He's created some of comics' most iconic images—a snarling Hulk raising a green-hued fist in anger, Conan the Barbarian strangling an enemy, even the disco-inspired first-issue cover for The Dazzler—and inspired some of the industry's most popular artists.

From the Planet of the Apes to Babylon 5 and Star Wars, from Doc Savage and Spider-Man to "Stone Cold" Steve Austin and The Rock, and from James Cameron's low-budget epic Piranha II to William Shatner's directorial turn on Star Trek V, there's little that artist Bob Larkin hasn't painted. But few of his fans have ever seen the incredible sketch work that goes into his eye-catching pieces—until now.

The Bob Larkin Sketchbook is a 24-page collection of superheroes, wrestling stars, and pulp adventurers—including a trio of brand-new sketches exclusive to this volume!
